Senior Center to Launch Program to COMBAT LONELINESS

Thanks to a $221,000 grant Florida Blue from the Tallahassee Foundation, the Senior Center will soon implement a new program, called UPSLIDE, designed to help prevent isolation and depression among the senior population.

UPSLIDE stands for Utilizing and Promoting Social Engagement for Loneliness, Isolation and Depression in the Elderly. This three-year program will help identify individuals age 50 and older who may be socially isolated. Preventive health and wellness tips will be presented through outreach visits, counseling and support-style chat groups. The Tallahassee Senior Center will partner with other mental health and social services agencies and organizations in the community to help strengthen the safety net serving these at-risk adults.

"Research indicates that social isolation and loneliness are linked with increased depression, dementia, falls and emergency visits," Tallahassee Senior Center's Health and Wellness Coordinator Ruth Nickens said. "This project will serve as a non-threatening gateway for people to become socially engaged and connected to other people. Participants will be encouraged to attend a Senior Center program or other positive social outlets."

The UPSLIDE program is set to launch in April.

The mission of Tallahassee Senior Center is to offer programs, activities and opportunities designed to encourage active living, optimal aging and social fitness for independent adults. The Tallahassee Senior Center is located at 1400 N. Monroe Street and is operated and maintained by the City of Tallahassee's Parks, Recreation and Neighborhood Affairs Department. For more information on its wide variety of programs, classes and events, please call 891-4000 or visit the City's website at Talgov.com/seniors. Show Your RAD Strength

"Most girls are smart and strong and beautiful. We are unstoppable," sings Hailee Steinfeld. While her words are true, women remain vulnerable to violence, as data from the National Domestic Violence Hotline show. More than 1 in 3 women in the United States have experienced rape, physical violence and/or stalking by an intimate partner in their lifetime. To help women develop techniques to protect themselves, the Tallahassee Police Department proudly offers free R.A.D. (Rape Aggression Defense) classes. The R.A.D. System is a comprehensive, women-only course that begins with awareness, prevention, risk reduction and risk avoidance, while progressing on to the basics of hands-on defense training. There are opportunities to take this free two-day training in May, July, September and December. Learn more at Talgov.com.
